UCSF COAST Grand Rounds, 2004-2005
Laurel Heights Campus
3333 California Street, Room 474
4:00-5:30pm

Date	Presenter	Topic
Tuesday, September 28	Gerald Reaven, MD Professor of Medicine, Stanford University	Insulin Resistance: the Linchpin Between Obesity and Cardiovascular Disease"
Tuesday, October 26	Ira Goldfine, MD Professor, UCSF	Mechanisms of Insulin Resistance & Exercise
Tuesday, November 30	Laurence Tecott, MD, PhD Associate Professor, UCSF	Genetic and Environmental Influences on Serotonin Systems and "Mouse Lifestyles"
Tuesday, January 25	Lia Fernald, PhD Assistant Adjunct Professor, UCSF	Obesity as a Global Health Issue: Evidence from Mexico
Tuesday, February 22	Emmanual Mignot, MD, PhD Professor of Psychiatry and Behavioral sciences, Stanford University	Sleep, sleep disorders: Obesity and metabolism
Tuesday, March 29	Tanja Adam, Ph.D. Postdoctoral Fellow, UCSF	GLP-1 stimulation and body weight: What does this have to do with appetite?
Tuesday, April 26	Pat Crawford, PhD Co-Director, Center for Weight and Health, UC Berkeley	Part I: Increasing Disparities in Pediatric Overweight Part II: Development of the Center for Weight and Health to link academia and the greater community
Tuesday, May 31	Mary Dallman, PhD Professor of Physiology UCSF and Norman Pecoraro, PhD, Postdoctoral Fellow	Comfort food, adiposity, and the HPA axis: Insights from stressed rats
Tuesday, June 28	Peter Havel, DVM, PhD Associate Researcher, UC Davis	TBA

The mission of COAST (Center for Obesity Assessment, Study and Treatment) is to reduce the prevalence and adverse consequences of obesity. This will be accomplished through innovative interdisciplinary research, education, clinical care, and community interventions. These efforts span from biological to socio-cultural and environmental contexts, from children to adults, and from prevention to treatment.

For more information, please contact Dina Dudum at dudumd@chc.ucsf.edu or 415-476-7283.